Power of Navy and Army Air Force Demonstrated

Sea Hawks Thrill Crowd With "Impossible"

San Diego Congratulated on New Airport

"With their wing tips almost touching, the "Three Sea Hawks" flew upside down in unison, made complete barrel rolls and multiple loops together, spiral turns and Immelmans, in each instance the three often banking or turning one on plane."

Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, commander of the battle fleet aircraft squadrons and the man responsible for the success of the great flight, told the crowd of the flying of the three fighters typifying the most forward steps made by the Army and Navy in aviation since 1918.

"The amazingly difficult maneuvers you see those three men accomplish were utterly simple and has been made possible only through ten full years of intensive effort by every one in Navy aeronautics," said Admiral Reeves. "We have designed and perfected planes and engines in ten years that meet our rigid requirements and the development aviators are thoroughly indoctrinated that three of them are up there this minute successfully accomplishing feats that would be impossible unless those pilots think absolutely together every second of flight."

ROAR INTO SUNLIGHT

The air armada began taking off on North Island at 11:30 o'clock this morning and in thirteen minutes the entire force was aloft. Widely scattered by single squadrons all over the San Diego Bay area, they disappeared behind a fog bank off Point Loma and in a few minutes they arrived at 200,000 weight, swooping down into the sunshines in perfect echelon or open formation. Down the bay and over Lindbergh Field they came—giant drooping bombers lumbering along in the lower altitudes, conwoys of fighters, silent scouts, light bombers, observation squadrons and old-time De Havillands, while far above the clouds there flashed the silver wings of the navy 150-mile fighters, traveling at such terrific speed that even above the roar of the engine force could hear their scream of speed. Again the twenty-mile parade circled the bay and disappeared behind the main drop of fog so obligingly supplied by the weather man. Again they emerged, this time massed in a vast column that with a roar of roaring power, passed over the field, broke by flight into a dozen groups and within a few minutes had landed on North Island. The show ended without a misfortune.

The 140 navy planes compose the squadron which operates constantly with the battle fleet, while the eighty-two army planes were from Rockwell Field, San Diego; March Field, Riverside; Crissey Field, San

EBERLE ENDS NAVY CAREER

Rear-Admiral Reaches Age of Retirement Today

Forty-seven Years Spent in Country's Service

Prominent Part Played in Department Growth

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. (AP)—A little gray-bearded man whose kindly eyes have viewed the waters of every sea during forty-seven years of distinguished naval service, marked by many notable achievements, has struck his colors to age.

Rear-Admiral Edward Walter Eberle, who has been the friend and counselor of rulers of nations and the humble bluejacket alike, tomorrow attains 64 years of age and retires from the Navy.

A recounting of his career began when he entered the Naval Academy at 17 until he became chairman of the Navy General Board and ranking officer after holding the highest commands, is a review of the many developments of the modern navy from sail to steam in each of which he took an important part.

EVENTFUL CAREER

In his early career, Admiral Eberle sailed unknowns along the Berlin-Santos Straits of Magellan and participated in the battle of Santiago in the Spanish-American War after he had been aboard the battleship Oregon on its historic trip around Cape Horn. He was active in the Philippine Insurrection as one of the commanders of the Pacific. Washington to Veracruz and settled the revolts and established governments in Haiti and Santo Domingo. During the World War he developed thousands of young officers for the great fleets while superintendent of the Naval Training Center, became chief of naval operations, the highest command in the Navy.

His career has been marked by a profound regard for duty and his records show that he was the organizer or developer of nearly all the major changes adopted in the last quarter of a century by the American Navy. He became a master in tactical maneuvers, in organizing forces and fleets, and instilling loyalty in the personnel.

LED IN NAVY DEVELOPMENT

In the evolution of the modern American navy, Admiral Eberle was the leader in developing the destroyer smoke screen. He organized and commanded the battleship, the first radio communication system. He also instituted aircraft spotting and the planning division of the navy's gun factory. He directed mine-laying and submarine warfare. He was a recognized authority on torpedoes and bombs.

An outstanding but little known part of his career was in the field of international affairs. His judgments often were sought by the highest authorities of this country, particularly during the recent Nicaragua and Chinese crises. During a crisis between this country and another before the World War, the admiral went to Europe on a secret mission for the American government and became the friend of the heads of many of the European nations. He was selected for that important duty because of his unusual ability, cool judgment and diplomacy.

Admiral Eberle was born in Denton, Tex., August 17, 1864, and was appointed to the Naval Academy from Fort Smith, Ark.

HONOR PAID DISCOVERER OF HAWAII

Shaft Raised to Memory of Early Sea Adventurer Unveiled in Celebration

WAIMEA (T. H.) Aug. 16. (AP)—Capt. James Cook, the British navigator who landed here in 1778 after seeking a northwest passage and made the Hawaiian Islands known to the world, received international tribute here today when a stone shaft was unveiled in his honor on the spot where he came ashore.

A national salute of twenty-one guns was fired by warships before a memorial and an ancient Hawaiian chant opened the ceremony.

Walmea presented a colorful spectacle as school children waved flags of the United States, Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand as uniformed parties landed from visiting warships of these countries.

The discoverer was extolled by speakers who recounted his glamorous and adventurous life upon the sea.

BURDEN ON FARMERS

"We talk about farm relief and at the same time we tax the farmer the heavier of all," the speaker continued. "Home owners are constantly growing less, because of taxes."

"We increase the taxes on the railroads and other things we know and that they must and will be paid on the shipper and farmer. The railroads now are paying more than $1,000,000 a day in taxes, much of which finds its way in charges against the farmer, yet we demand much of the wealth of the State, to go untaxed, and force the burden of government upon those often least able to pay."

Protecting the interests of excess tax buyers, Shepherd said:

"We have been increasing the bonded indebtedness of the States and municipalities at the rate of more than $3,500,000 daily, usually by the vote of those who never expect to pay a dollar of it."

AIMS OF MEETING

In concluding his address of welcome, Shepherd said: "We are here to discuss the aims of our party—some of the phases of this tax question; to consider some of the purposes for which the people are possessed by law of their hard-earned income to impose certain taxes on the value of the various bonds and bureaus and the many ideas and schemes, fads and gewgaws which have crept into our local and State government."

MONROE RULING SUPPORT FOUND

League Article Declared to Provide Precedent

Doctrine Part of Covenant, Officials Point Out

Assembly May Not Act on Costa Rica's Plea Alone

GENEVA, Aug. 16. (AP)—Precedent for an interpretation of the covenant of the League of Nations, and therefore of the Monroe Doctrine, by the League as has been requested by Costa Rica, already exists in the League's Admirable interpretation of Article X of the covenant, according to an opinion voiced today in well-informed circles.

It was remarked that as Secretary Kellogg declared in his Washington speech of April 23, the League's interpretation of the doctrine is identical to mean that the constitutional authorities of each state must decide whether they shall contribute military forces to any League expedition and that actual war measures are not imposed by the League on its members. Furthermore, voted almost at last this resolution, therefore preventing its formal adoption, but it is nevertheless generally accepted as League law.

Other articles in the covenant, it is pointed out, have been clarified and amended, and as the Monroe Doctrine is a part of the covenant and the covenant is a part of the Treaty of Versailles, officials see no reason why the Council or Assembly could not ask the World Court of International Justice for an advisory interpretive opinion of just what the doctrine implies.

Another suggestion was that the American government might be requested by the Assembly to give a statement as to how the United States itself now interprets the doctrine.

THE GENERAL OPINION was voiced that the Assembly probably will have no objection to the League's request unless the Latin American states members of the League favor this initiative.

Chicagoan Fights Extradition to Missouri

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 16. (AP)—The shortage in the International Life Insurance Company may be far greater than the $3,562,000 asserted to have been removed from assets by President Roy C. Toombs of Chicago. W. R. Baker, Kansas Insurance Commissioner, declared today.

Baker asserted investigation by the insurance commissioners of nine states indicated Toombs had become indebted to the International at His company for about $1,000,000 through transfers of stock for which he had made no accounting.

"That is only one example," Baker said. "We have found 400 blank certificates missing and so far have accounted for only five."

MORE WARRANTS

Three additional warrants were issued late today against Toombs by Circuit Attorney Howard Sidenor, each charging that Toombs caused F. G. Gratz, a vice-president, and W. G. Stover, secretary, to sign false and fraudulent certificates for 3000 shares of stock with intent to issue them.

Meanwhile the Assistant Attorneys-General of Missouri are preparing to prosecute Dr. E. F. Morgenstern of Chicago, a defendant and close adviser of Toombs, charging him with grand larceny in connection with removal and disposition of $500,000 in bonds last October 1.

He was Toombs' closest adviser when he bought control of the company in June, 1927.

COLORFUL CAREER

Morgenstern, of Russian birth and his related that he came to America a penniless refugee five years ago after twenty-five years as court physician to the late Czar of Russia and two years in a Soviet prison. He achieved considerable local renown as a psychopathologist and character reader. In Chicago he had been engaged professionally as a character analyst and vocational adviser.

Morgenstern is reported to have told him on one occasion: You will be the greatest investment banker in the country. You will head the largest insurance company. You will be great because your heart is pure. You can do no wrong.

TOOMBS FACES INCREASE IN FINANCIAL WOES

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. (AP)—Financial troubles of Roy C. Toombs, Chicago and St. Louis banker, broker and insurance man, were increasing today while steps toward seeking extradition to St. Louis under grand larceny charges were delayed by errors in requisition papers.

At the same time, a warrant for E. F. Morgenstern, vice-president of the insurance company headed by Toombs, was under preparation in St. Louis, accusatory of participation of larceny similar to the charges against Toombs in connection with securities missing from the insurance company, the International Life.

The warrant for Toombs asserts he converted to his own use $104,000 of insurance company bonds. It is under this warrant his extradition to St. Louis is sought.

JUDGMENT ENTERED

A judgment for $104,665 was entered against Toombs here today on behalf of W. E. Dodson, who was associated with Toombs in the purchase of the insurance company. He held a promissory note for $100,000 in Toombs' name.

In another court, a petition for the appointment of a receiver for the insurance company was filed and an injunction was issued restraining the company from carrying on any additional business in Illinois and from removing any assets from the State.

His brokerage firm, Toombs & Daily, already has been placed in the hands of a receiver after charges that Toombs had manipulated its assets until the company was insolvent were made in a petition for receiver.

ROBLES START

His troubles began several days ago when insurance examiners reported his company was in an unsatisfactory condition. He was arrested and remanded a short time ago when police charged that he was placed against him. The warrant for grand larceny was issued following his release.

Toombs maintains his troubles are caused by persons attempting to force him out of his companies. He will oppose extradition.

JUNGLE YIELDS DYOTT NOTE

Continuing Silence for Month Slightly Relieved by June 10 Message Telling Radio Trouble

BY COMMANDER GEORGE M. DYOTT
Chief of Fawcett Rescue Expedition

(Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

BAKARI POST, MATTO GROSSO (Brazil) June 10. (By Mail)—This outpost is the tip of a thin tentacle of civilization which is creeping into these remote parts. This is our very last contact with anyone or anybody who knows or has even heard of civilization.

Bakari is a trading post established to make friends with the Indians and tame them. The Bakari Indians are easily domesticated and quite friendly but not so those who live farther on.

We have had a good taste now of rough life. Leaving Berlin in a motor launch we traveled to San Manoel River in twelve hours covering open plateau country of a most unattractive nature. We had three burst tires on the way and they delayed us for a night.

COLD AND RAIN

Not only was it cold during the hour of darkness, but we were subjected to a violent prolonged rain. We got very wet and slept under the trees dropping out of the dreams of water trying to cross beneath our blankets. The gray light of morning was welcome after that comfortless night, and repairs completed, we continued on reaching our objective in the afternoon.

At San Manoel we found that most of the baggage had gone on ahead, slowly, so we lost no further time in advancing. We rode three miles and made camp on the banks of the San Manoel River, crossing over the next morning.

TROUBLES CROWD

Here troubles began to crowd in on us. The bullocks started to duck and dipper, our carts on the water. Unfortunately our harness was damaged and so was one of the cameras. It took us three hours to ford the river.

Then came a long march over open country, barren of game and not very interesting for three days this kept up. On reaching the Paranaatinga River we found it too deep to ford and we crowded the baggage into a canoe, making the animals swim. One day more and we had to abandon the canoe.

We have been badly treated by all manner of insects, and our bodies are covered with spots and sores. They itch terribly and it is really difficult to concentrate one's ideas sufficiently to write correctly.

We have the ants, flies and creatures that lay eggs under our skin. These eventually hatch out. Ticks are the worst curse and we are never free of them. They are also worse in the dry season. Mosquitoes and bees have not been troubling us yet but we will come in due season as we advance.

The crossing of the Paranaatinga was quite a task. Our pack train has increased 'till now we have seventy bullocks and twelve mules. The amount of cargo we have seems colossal but it is all essential if we are to accomplish our mission.

FAWCETT'S COURSE

Col. Fawcett, whose rescue this expedition hopes to bring about, crossed this river farther downstream. There has been a great deal of discussion regarding what direction Fawcett took after leaving here. We sent our scouts in advance to follow his route and in case he had to leave us made an interesting discovery: that Fawcett never went via the San Manoel and Tapajos rivers, which many had believed. In 1910, when Fawcett was here first, he made a trail to the Paranaatinga and then came back unable to advance. In 1925 he followed this old route of his, not all the way, but part of it. Then he swung around due east to the headwaters of several streams which go to make up the Xingu.

BAKARI SOJOURN

Our sojourn at Bakari has been a short but busy one. We have sent the North American Newspaper Alliance dispatches by wireless. But this has been a difficult task in view of breakages resulting from bucking bullocks in midriver.

In a dispatch printed in this paper yesterday, speculating on reasons which might account for the absence of radio wireless messages from Col. Fawcett, it was said that this might be due to trouble with the radio apparatus.

We leave tomorrow, Tuesday, June 12, in a generally northeastern direction, to follow such tracks as we can find of Fawcett's party.

HINDENBURG HONORS NEWEST GERMAN LINER

BREMEN (Germany) Aug. 16. (AP)—For the first time in his life President Von Hindenburg today christened and launched a merchant ship.

Following directly the christening by American Ambassador Schurman of the North German Lloyd liner "Imperial" yesterday, the aged soldier-President directed to postpone his vacation in Bavaria to christen the Europa's sister ship, the Bremen. This is the first time in Germany's history that two great liners have been launched within a day of each other.

The Chinese Nationalists today launched their first destroyer.

It is the first war vessel built since the 1911 revolution and while in translation the ship's name means

Peace, in commemoration of the recent Nationalist victory, the speeches delivered by Nationalist officials at the launching exercises to-day were anything but peaceful.

Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, speaking in behalf of the Nationalist government, said it is China's intention to construct 60,000 tons of warcraft within the next ten years.

"Today marks the beginning of construction and improvement of the Chinese navy," he said. "We must build modern tonnage and restore our naval power and prestige. We are building at least 60,000 tons of new modern ships in the coming ten years. If our naval officials and sailors strive to the utmost, we can ultimately make China a first-class naval power thereby gaining justice and equality in the family of nations, which is the way we ever will achieve equality."

HIGHWAY INN RIGHT IN HIGHWAY WHILE PADLOCK BALKS RAZING

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 16. (AP)—A dilapidated building, sometimes known as the Highway Inn and at other times called "The Five Fifteen," is destined to pock the weatherbeaten walls right into the heart of Milwaukee's new eighty-foot boulevard.

Because of a government padlock the structure cannot be wrecked, nor can it be moved, and so, when Cedar-Biddle street has been widened and paved, the derelict of days past will sit prominently across the highway and traffic lights will guide motorists around the blockade. When the day comes for the lifting of the padlock the gaps will be filled in.

hundred persons, half of whom will be babies, to be treated by the Olney hospital department, the other half adults to be treated by Dr. Junek.

After observations and preliminary experiments the health department expects to order large quantities.

"I am completely won over to the treatment," Dr. Junek said today. "If all children are inoculated shortly after birth, I am convinced that tuberculosis will be virtually wiped out in a few years. In France the BCG has satisfied the most rigorous tests and in every case where babies and parents are suffering from tuberculosis in its most infectious forms. There have been a few reckless attempts in recent months to discredit the vaccine, but we are using it with care. It is impossible for the vaccine to do any harm."

NO BAD EFFECTS
The vaccine is given in three doses in ten days after birth. It is a sufficient quantity of fluid to inoculate a

An Open Letter to Beauty Lovers of California

The very name CALIFORNIA is synonymous with beauty, romance, colorful history and the most ideal living conditions of any country under the sun.

Within the confines of this great state are innumerable places of beauty and locations to satisfy and to assure enjoyment to those of the most exacting tastes.

There is one spot that should appeal to all who care for suburban beauty away from the tremendously populated centers; to those who love trees, the mighty waters of the Pacific, gardens with colorful flowers, clear skies and most important perhaps, kindred people for neighbors.

From snow-capped mountains to the Desert, and from ocean's high tide to inland lakes there is nothing more desirable than Del Mar.

But have you seen it?

You have a treat in store for yourself. Del Mar is "Nature's Special Gift to the South Coast," the only place of its kind on all of the coast line of Southern California. There can never be another place like it. It's where the wooded hills meet the sea. It is located between Los Angeles and San Diego on the scenic coast highway—just far enough away for you to find freedom from the great congestion of people and traffic with which we are so familiar. There is elbow room—space to breathe—an atmosphere of freedom and comfort where people go to enjoy the finest surf bathing on the Pacific, to golf, play tennis, ride and hike.

Del Mar is noted for its world famous Hotel, and if you will rest in a lawn chair in front of this hotel, overlooking the ocean, you will wonder if there can be anything more beautiful.

You will see acres of green sward, stately palms, low-spreading pines, millions of flowers of every color. You will look out over the fifty miles of ocean that seems actually to touch the gardens, to ships passing in the distance. Toward evening you will see that great red ball of fire disappearing gradually over the horizon. You will not believe it unless you go and sit there and then you will say "No place could be more beautiful."

Those who have seen it and liked it have built over a million dollars worth of homes. Some the show places of California.

Yet here is one of the unbelievable things. Present prices are lower than any other place along the Coast. Beach lots from $1,100 up and wooded estates from $2,500. Terms if desired over four years.

Every foot is an investment opportunity and one that may never be duplicated again. Prices will advance rapidly. The same kind of beach lot in many other places would cost from $3,000 to $25,000. People are coming fast and BUYING.

This is your opportunity to see and select your Beauty Spot in California.

We sell by request. Our Method will Appeal to You

LONDON BOMBED IN MAKE-BELIEVE

Attacking Squadrons Lay Buildings in Ruins

Thousands Have Stiff Necks From Upward Gaze

Woman Among Air Raiders; Defenses Fail

LONDON, Aug. 16. (AP)—London was preparing to carry on its work of raising the buildings that stand between Fifth and Sixth streets on Cedar. Workers found a padlock on the door and, obeying the mandate of the court, declined to touch a single board.

The city will continue its work on Cedar-Biddle street, though it will be driven beneath the buildings to take care of sewers, water mains and light cables. Pavements will be laid up to the building's edge, as will the sidewalks. A pedestrian detour will be laid out in the rear of the building and traffic lights will guide motorists around the blockade. When the day comes for the lifting of the padlock the order the gap will be filled in.

The revolution is made through the child milk. There are no fever or disturbances of any kind after inoculation. Almost never is the infant made ill because immunity develops slowly and is not complete for several months. The principle of the vaccine is the same as the BCG vaccine, but is more satisfactory as there is no chance of developing a violent reaction.

The revolutionary fluid is made by injecting attenuated human tubercular serum into guinea pigs where it sets up mild infection. The guinea pig is then used as a result. Not even a guinea pig is able to develop a serious case of tuberculosis to sufficiently kill him during the manufacture of the serum. Thus an inoculated human being, even though he develops immunity from tuberculosis could not get a dangerous infection from the vaccine.

Miss McAlery, who is said to be the first woman to participate in such an air attack, rode over London with the attack force. Each plane which crossed the coastline over Whitstable and was soon caught by the huge searchlights on the rim of London. Nevertheless, the squadron penetrated the capital's defenses and dropped scores of incendiary bombs on historic buildings, government offices and commanding houses. One bomb is calculated to have reduced the home of Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to ashes.

One result of the maneuvers, aside from the stiff necks that thousands of Londoners have from flying planes maneuver thousands of feet above the Strand and Piccadilly, is the belief that the best way to defeat air raiders is to intercept the attackers and drive them back before they even reach the English coast, as otherwise they seem bound to do tremendous damage.

Protruding Jaw Doesn't Mean That Owner Pugnacious, Dentist Asserts

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. (AP)—Another pet belief has been exploded by science. It is the theory that a protruding jaw indicates pugnacity.

"The fact that a man has a jaw like a mastodon," said Dr. Fred Fletcher, addressing the National Conference of Dental Technicians, "by no means implies that he is fearless or aggressive. The man with a squirrel-like jaw may be a stick of dynamite in comparison."

TAXPAYERS WIN OVER CITY

Bakersfield and Union Paving Company Defeated in Twenty-fourth Street Suit

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 16.—Judgment in favor of the taxpayers in suit against the city of Bakersfield and the Union Paving Company to prevent collection of levies for the paving of Twenty-fourth street is on record today from the court of Judge Erwin W. Owen, who heard the famous case which was started in April, 1926. Taxpayers protested paying assessments for the paving, which was ordered by the city over the objections of many of the landowners. The taxpayers and their attorneys also held that in some instances the property was taxed at greater than its actual value.

There was no equivocation in the judgment rendered by Judge Owen. The court finds that the plaintiff's are the owners in severalty of the lands and that they are free and clear of all liens and claims of the defendants, including the city, its officials and the Union Paving Company. The assessments levied are "illegal, null and void and that the defendants have no power to levy such assessments." By reason of the "illegal, arbitrary, fraudulent and confiscatory" action on the part of the defendants, the court refuses to issue an order for a reassessment of the property.

Banker's Bride Remains Loyal

SAN ANSELMO, Aug. 16. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Ione Eastman was on a honeymoon in Canada with her husband, E. H. Eastman, last April, when he learned of an attempt for embezzlement of approximately $16,000 from the San Rafael branch of the American Trust Company, where he had been assistant cashier and paying teller. Eastman returned and relatives were said to have made good his position.

He was arrested Tuesday, however, by Federal officers and indicted yesterday by a Federal grand jury on seven counts of mail fraud.

"I am his wife and I expect to stay with him whatever happens," Eastman is at liberty on $10,000 bail.

Easy-Payment Funeral Banned

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. (Exclusive) While luxuries and necessities for living are increasingly retailed on $1 down and $1 now and then basis, and even the overbuilt dwelling-house trade is selling homes on a down payment of one canceled rent receipt, the dead took a rap on their credit rating today.

The newly formed Metropolitan Professional Directors' Association has formulated a plan for abolishing credit as at present extended to bereaved families, according to Tobias A. Nepler, general counsel and director of the organization.

The smile will be, perhaps, no cash, no credit as payment in advance will be asked for all members of the association.

Smith has decided to reply to William Allen White's charges that as an Assemblyman he favored the saloon and allied interests.FORTIFIED BY AN EXHAUSTIVE REVIEW of his own legislative record, the Democratic nominee for President is preparing an answer, but does not know just when he will make it public.A denial, cabled from Europe by the Kansas editor, that he had "retracted" any of his accusations, put a new light on the situation, in Gov. Smith's opinion, and has served to hold up his rejoinder.RECORD CHECKED*FOR SEVERAL WEEKS THE NOMINEE HAS BEEN GOING OVER LEGISLATIVE RECORDS of some of them nearly twenty-five years old, to check up on details in his vote on several legislative proposals. There had been some indications that he might not reply, but today he definitely disclosed an intention to do so.IN ANNOUNCING THIS PLAN OF ACTION the Governor said he conferred with newspaper men mentioned the Republican National Committee as having made public White's cablegram. It was designed to correct what the editor regarded as an erroneous impression that he had retracted charges relating to Smith's stand on gambling and commercialized vice.POLICY UNCERTAIN*WHETHER THE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE IN HIS COUNTER-BLAST ALSO WILL TAKE COGNIZANCE OF OTHER ATTACKS ON HIS PUBLIC RECORD, such as those made by Dr. John Roach Straton of New York, has not been disclosed. In view of the fact that there now seems little likelihood that the proposed debate between Smith and the Baptist clergyman will come off, some of the Governor's advisers have urged him to increase the scope of his attack to include the practice Dr. Straton and other critics, but he has given no inkling of his intentions.*GOV. SMITH IS SHAPING UP HIS REJOINDER between conferences with party leaders on the Executive Mansion, where over time he planned to have as his guest Senator George of Georgia. It was to be his third meeting with a southern dry in as many days. Since that came I have neither been carried nor led. Anyhow, in this age of bobs, barber shops are no longer embarrassing."*One look at Miss Butler revealed the fact that her only visits to the barber shop are on election day, when it becomes the polling place. Another look justified the guess that it would still be possible to carry her to the polls on election day and a pleasure.*She isn't just good looking. She's positively pretty, in certain postures, and she is round, slight and girlish. Her long, wavy hair hangs loosely over most of a rather high forehead. Her brown eyes are limpid; her nose is straight and feminine. Her mouth deserves the adjective sweet. During the interview she waved a colored fan and at moments there was a slightly Japanese look about her.*LIKES SPORTS*The effect was helped by a patterned dress of green and green, beads about her throat, and a skin tan smoothly from many a golf or tennis match at her summer home at Southampton, Long Island, and from swims in the sun. SENATORIAL RACE TANGLED

Error in Count of Wet-and-Dry Contest Leaves Official Ohio Count Necessary to Decide

COLUMBUS (O.) Aug. 16. (P)—Whether Senator Cyrus Locher, Cleveland, an avowed dry, or Graham P. Hunt, Cincinnati liberal, has been nominated by Ohio Democrats as the candidate for the short-term seat in the United States Senate may have to be determined by the official count of the vote cast at last Tuesday's primary.

Hunt tonight swung back into the lead over Senator Locher on the basis of a second mistake discovered yesterday by county election boards in figures previously reported.

The Allen county election board tonight announced an official count of Hunt 1067, Locher 1065, against an unofficial total reported yesterday of 547 for Hunt and 1990 for Locher.

HUNT LEAD SLIGHT

On the basis of the new total, Hunt now leads his opponent by 445 votes, the revised total being 93,469; Locher, 93,024.

Hunt, who had been indicated as the winner by an approximate majority of more than 10,000 votes on almost complete unofficial returns tabulated by the association, has now lost virtually his lead to-day when election officials in Cuyahoga county (Cleveland) discovered an error of 10,000 in Hunt's vote, whereby he had been credited with that many votes more than he actually received.

Probable in no other primary race on either ticket was probability a more pronounced issue than in this race. Hunt, a Cincinnati attorney, is an avowed foe of the Anti-Saloon League, which he has fought for years. He waged his campaign on the issue of modification of the Volstead Act and full endorsement of Gov. Smith, the Presidential nominee and the House ballot given it over Hunt.

The error in the Cuyahoga county vote was discovered by the election officials today during a recheck after Senator Locher's headquarters here, last night, had challenged the correctness of the county vote declaring that there was a majority of 10,000 votes. The recheck revealed an error of exactly that many votes. The Locher-Hunt vote in Cuyahoga county as originally announced by the county election officials gave Hunt 26,234 and Locher 12,989. The corrected vote gave Hunt only 16,234.

It is believed here, an ideal selection for this important post.

WOMAN EDITOR'S PLEDGE CARD FIRST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. (Exclusive)—Miss Gertrude Battles Lane, editor of one of the leading women's publications in the country, was the first to return to Republican national campaign headquarters a Hoover pledge postcard, one of more than 1,000,000 being sent out by the national Republican committee to the women of the nation.

The women's division of the Republican National Committee has been deluged with these cards during the last forty-eight hours, it was stated, with hundreds more pouring in as each mail is received. The pledge card reads as follows:

"My dear Mr. Hoover: I hereby promise to do my best for you on Nov. 5 and I further pledge myself to see that she is duly registered as a voter. Yours for a sweeping victory."

Each woman signing a card pays 2 cents for it as part of her contribution to the campaign. The women's division of the Republican campaign organization is finding that a large proportion of responses indicate the signer of the card be furnished with more in order that she may place them among her friends. SOUTH CRACKS, EDITOR LEARNS

Solidarity for Smith Shot Full of Holes

Alabama Shows Signs of Voting Hoover

Other States in Dixie May Cross Divide

TUCSON (Ariz.) Aug. 16. (Exclusive)—That the "solid South" this year is far from solid is asserted by A. K. Parker, editor of the Tucson Citizen, just returned from a fortnight in Alabama. The Southern States he found in a situation of political flux. It is not that they are turning from the Democratic party, but from Smith. As a rule, he says, the leaders of party sentiment and office-holders merely observe that they "are for the ticket" or that they "are Democrats."

But, he notes, "there is no attempt to persuade the rank and file to accept Smith. It was believed that, following the initial shock of disappointment at the nomination of Smith and his wet and unorthodox policies, the trend would return to regularity, but the trend is in the opposite direction. This has been aided to some extent by threats of reprisals measures under the primary laws which have only aggravated the spirit of revolt. Undoubtedly it is working like yeast. I am convinced that, for this reason, the Hoover vote in Alabama and in other States of similar political history will be larger when counted than anyone supposes. The Australian ballot gives them an 'out.'

SEES HOOVER VICTORY

Considering Alabama especially,

the editor declared that the State should hold its own and vote for Hoover.

HOOVER CAMPAIGN LITERATURE READY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. (P)—

The first Hoover campaign literature has reached Republican national headquarters here, and national committeewomen were asked today to inform Herbert L. Gutierrez, executive secretary of the national committee, of their needs for such material.

Gutierrez says three pamphlets are being issued, one of which is composed of extracts from Hoover's speeches and writings up to date, except for his acceptance speech.

Another pamphlet is a reprint of the candidate's speech before the Iowa Society of Washington, recalling his boyhood days at West Branch, Iowa. The third reprint in his record was a friend of the American farmer" and was prepared by J. R. Howard of Clemmons, Iowa, former president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

RECORD IN SEAT SALE HIT AGAIN

Two Memberships Reported Sold at $90,000

Local Exchange on Par With New York Curb

Installation of Translux Projector Planned

Negotiations have just been completed for the transfer of another membership on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange at the record price of $90,000. Norman E. Courtney, secretary and manager, announced yesterday. This marks the second transaction in the past week at the new high figure. Names of the principals of the transfer will not be revealed until final approval of the members.

At the $90,000 figure value of memberships corresponds with the value of seats on the New York Curb Exchange, the last sale of which was at a similar price. The San Francisco Stock Exchange and the New York Stock Exchange are the only markets in the country with higher membership values.

On completion of this last transaction the Los Angeles Stock Exchange will have transferred a total of eight memberships from the first of the year to date. This compares with a transfer of ten seats in the entire year 1927. Based on the new price, the aggregate value of the seventy memberships stands at $6,300,000 and compares with $1,300,000 at the close of 1927.

Plans for the immediate installation of Translux quotation projection machines for New York and San Francisco stock exchanges were also announced by Mr. Courtney.

The machine will be placed under the quotation board of the exchange and will be visible from all points of the trading floor. This is in addition to the regular tickers and will enable members to follow closely price movements in San Francisco and New York.

It is understood that negotiations will be completed in the next two weeks for the installation in brokerage houses of about thirty Western Union offices to record transfers of the Los Angeles Curb Exchange exclusively. At present these quotations are run jointly with those of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange on the latter's ticker system. The service of sending quotations to member offices over a multiple telephone hook-up was inaugurated last month.

OIL RUMOR BOOSTS STOCK

Reported Drilling Program of Doheny Stimulates Interest in Investment Company

BY EARL E. CROWE

Oil is again affecting the market for shares of the Los Angeles Investment Company. Rumors of a drilling campaign for the deep sand on land adjoining the company's tract at Inglewood have reversed the trend of prices in the last few days, and the market is temporarily ignoring the reports of declining real-estate sales. Principally on buying originating in San Francisco the stock yesterday sold up to 2.80.

Petroleum Securities Company, one of the Doheny ventures, is understood to have notified other oil companies of its intention to drill for the deep sand on its holdings adjoining the Los Angeles Investment Company's property. The Standard Oil Company holds the investment company's properties.

The market, however, would be compelled to drill also for the deep sand if the Doheny company plans such a program. Successful completion of wells to the deep sand would swell the royalty payments of the Los Angeles Investment Company.

OPPOSITION EXPRESSED

Amidst all oil money, however, the hope persists that Petroleum Securities will abandon the reported project, against which there is considerable opposition.

The oil from the existing wells only runs around 22 deg. gravity, and more of the same grade would not help the statistical position of the industry. For the standpoint of the investment company, moreover, the drilling of the deep sand at this time is not particularly desirable, as the price for this grade of oil is still relatively low.

Doheny may be influenced, according to the reasoning advanced in the trade, by the fact that his company has large contracts to fill, including the Richfield contract, and his company has refused to accept any more royalty from the present discoverer and questions the legality of the permit allowing the Indian National Corporation to construct a pipe line from the concession to tide water on the basis of his failure to share in the recent discoveries and possibly some of his competitors may be willing to supply whatever oil is needed on his contracts.

Liquidation ABSORBED

Apparently the speculative component in San Francisco belief that the Standard Oil Company will be compelled to drop down to the lower sand. Mostly on San Francisco stocks, the Los Angeles Investment Company moved up to 2.80 and closed at this price on a heavy volume of trading.

The government contends that the legal status of the De Mares concession is practically the same as the Barco concession, cancellation of which was recently upheld by President Madero. Large sums have been expended for development of the De Mares concession, production from which runs about 60,000 barrels daily. No actual work was done on the Barco concession.

It is not believed that the government will cancel the De Mares concession and that higher royalty payments will be exacted. The Colombian Minister of Industry has stated that it will be necessary for the present Congress to correct the legal status of the concession. It is the desire of the government, he said, to adjust the matter on a fair basis.

The advance in the price of crude, however, may partially compensate Doheny for his failure to share in the recent discoveries and possibly some of his competitors may be willing to supply whatever oil is needed on his contracts.

The company is capitalized with 250,000 shares, divided into three classes: 25,000 Class A preferred, 100,000 Class B preferred and 125,000 common shares. The permit authorized the sale of Class B and common shares.

R. N. Stevenson is president and F. W. Beck, secretary of the company.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. (Exclusive)—Heavy buying of American Can shares again attracted more than passing comment. The sudden spurt of this erstwhile speculative favorite carrying the price of the present shares above 100 for the first time was regarded in the financial district as a favorable omen. Although no commission house circles had any definite news, it was attributed to expectations of a sharp increase in earnings this year over 1927 in other quarters it was asserted a good-sized short interest had been severely trimmed. Indications in the pack of vegetable cans would be the largest in history this year mean that profits should show a substantial improvement.

THE INVESTOR

Author Says Syndicates Not Promotion Group to Victimize Investors

BY WILLIAM RUSSELL WHITE
(Copyright, 1928, by New York Evening Post, Inc.)

BY WILLIAM RUSSELL WHITE

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. (Exclusive)—Asserting that the term syndicate in its application to finance a project is not generally understood by laymen and is frequently regarded with suspicion as indicating a transaction originated by a small group of promoters entered into by them for the purpose of making large profits at the expense of innocent investors, Arthur Galston, formerly of Blair & Co. and a lecturer at Columbia University, explains the activities in his new book.

Even those connected with financial organizations which participate in syndicate transactions frequently have confused ideas regarding the terms of syndicate agreements and misinterpret them to the embarrassment of their associates, says Mr. Galston.

Mr. Galston first explains the so-called "joint account," which for all practical purposes may be considered as a syndicate transaction in its simplified form.

"Let us assume that a firm of bankers contemplates the formation of a syndicate for the purpose of raising an issue of say, $1,000,000 bonds. Being convinced of the attractiveness of such a purchase, the bankers have two questions to decide: whether to act alone or should assume the full liability of the $1,000,000 purchase, and, two, whether their selling organization is sufficiently strong to distribute alone and properly this amount of bonds.

"Should they decide that such a commitment is too heavy for them to handle alone, they invite another firm of bankers to join them. If the second firm of bankers accepts the invitation on equal basis, then the liability and profits realized are equally divided. In a simple transaction of this kind it is not necessary to prepare a formal agreement.

"The price to be paid to the corporation by the bankers is the same as the price to be paid by the subscribers. The consideration of the guarantee by the bankers of the successful sale of the entire issue, the corporation agrees to pay the bankers certain specific commissions."

Savage Arms which pushed forward to 41 1/2 on a moderate volume of business. Buying was said to have reflected improvement in the company's earnings in the first half of the year, notably in the second quarter. Net profit for the six months amounted to $37,840, more than double the dividend requirements and comparing with $74,962 in the first half of last year. A great part of the gain took place in the second quarter. The new stock has been placed on a $2 annual dividend basis.

Bank Shares Feature Local Trading Activity and Mark Substantial Gains

Bank stock trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange jumped into prominence yesterday with a sudden spurt of activity. The entire list responded to an undercurrent of bullishness and marked up substantial advances. The announcement that A. P. Giannini is on his way home was thought in some quarters to be a contributing factor to the general improvement. Oil stocks held to strength manifested in the previous session and many shares of this division of the market recorded fractional gains.

Giannini shares came in for the specific National Bank scored a new greatest play and moved up 6 to 10 points by the second half of trading.

Bank of America opened at 174 1/2, the point for the day, and jumped 11 points from Wednesday's close to touch a high for the day at 184 1/2. It closed at 183.

Bancital advanced 6 1/4 points to a high at 117 1/2 and after dropping back to 117 rallied to close at the high price.

Local bank shares followed in sympathy with the Giannini stocks. Merchants National rose 11 points to close high for the day at 196. Los Angeles First National added 2 1/4 points to finish at 114 1/4. California Bank advanced 2 1/4 to 125.

Bank record price, up 1-8 to 42 1/2.

Rio Grande continued to lead the activity of the oil division after having risen 5 1/2 sold directly yesterday to 14 1/4. Richfield displayed strength and advanced a point to 47. The warrants gained 3 1/4 to 17. Union of California added 1/2 to finish at 51 and Union Associated at 51 1/4, was up 1-4.

Associated was transferred at 27 1/2.

Standard Oil of California advanced 2 cents to 82, selling briskly.

Stock transfers totaled 167,621 shares. Bond transactions amounted to $9000.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Byron Jackson Pump and Caterpillar Tractor on a substantially increased turnover featured trading operations yesterday on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange. The greater part of the activity came in the afternoon session and both stocks advanced on the demand. Byron Jackson Pump jumped 5 points to a high and close for the day at 89. Caterpillar gained 3 points to close at 73 which was also the high point of the day off to 181 1/2 for a net loss of 5 1/4. Tidewater Associated advanced a point to 194. Texas was maintained at 62.

Kolster Radio was a strong spot of the market and advanced 3 3/4 points to 56. Lockheed Aircraft added 1/2 to finish at 30 1/2. The preferred sold unchanged at 7 1/2. Diamond Electric was firm at 32. Rio Grande convertible 7's of 1938 continued to sell actively and established a new high mark at 191, up 4 1/4. In the afternoon the bonds of Bank of America followed the trend of bank stocks on the parent board and jumped 10 points on the day to finish at 180. United Security Bank sold at 160. Tom Reed moved up 2 cents in the mining list.

STOCK PRICES

statement showed an increase of about $20,000,000 in bills bought in the open market. However, Federal Reserve officials insisted there had been no change in credit policy, which apparently had been aimed at a further reduction in brokers' loans. Rediscounts in the Federal Reserve district dropped about $50,000,000, and there was a further small decrease in government securities.

Motor, steel, gas, public utility, merchandising, copper and food shares all presented upward points of strength in today's market. New high records for the year, or longer, were registered by such representative issues as American Can, Continental Can, American Smelting, National Cash Register, Inland Steel, Eaton Axle, Sears, Roebuck, F. W. Woolworth, Grand Stores and Kroger Stores.

GRAHAM-PAIGE LEADS
Graham-Paige became the new leader of the aircraft group by climbing 6 points to 39. Standard Motors ran up 3 points to 181 1/2, lost more than half its gain and Chicago Motor was under rather persistent selling pressure closing a point lower or 3 1/2 after having reached 94. American Smelting, with a gain of 8 points at 200, was the highest price in its history, was the leader of the copper group. Atlantic Refining closed 3 3/4 points higher at 140 1/4, was again in the forefront of the oil group. United States Steel, common closed nearly 2 points higher at 146 5/8 after having crossed 147.

Texas and Pacific, closing 4 3/4 points higher at 172 3/4, led the advance in the railroad shares. Substantial gains also were recorded by Southern Railway, Rock Island, New York Central, "Nickel Plate," Gulf, Mobile & Northern and Bangor & Aroostook. Missouri Pacific issues were in good demand on expectations of an early announcement of reorganization plans.

Wheat rallied about 1 1/2 cents a bushel and cotton about $1.50 a bale on buying induced by reports of unfavorable weather. Coffee and sugar prospects showed little change.

With the exception of a further break of 32 points in Japanese yen to a new low for the year at 44.50 cents, trading presumably inspired by the Chinese situation there was little interest in the foreign exchanges. Sterling cables held steady around $4.85-5.15.

Active Market

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. (Exclusive)—Grain markets were weaker in the early trading but the decline did not extend very far, when at the inside showing 1 1/4@1 1/2% under the previous day. The break brought in short sellers who also closed home buying and sales. The market closed from the low followed by the top, net gains of 1 1/4@1 1/2%. The market was not fully restored to previous points. Winnipeg closing unchanged at 45c. while Minneapolis was up only 4 1/4%. Kansas City was 1 1/4%. Corn broke 4 1/4% and ended 4 1/4% higher, with September sold the most strength. Oats lost 4 1/4% for the day, while rye was 1 1/2% higher.

Wheat was up in Liverpool and higher temperatures in the Canadian Northwest caused the early gains in spot values, but offerings were ready to meet the commission houses and shorts later in the market turned in sympathy with the market trend. Toward the latter there was free buying to meet with eastern connections, which found little time and caused the final upturn.

There was little in the general run of news to account for the sharp bulge in prices. Foreign demand for cast iron was slow, with sales of around 400,000 bushels in all positions. Weather conditions in Canada were generally favorable for maturing the crop forecast was fair, with somewhat better prospects. Moderate rains were shown in the American Northwest. Farmers in that section were reported as storing as much grain as possible and in some instances had bought futures in the cash market.

Livestock closed 1 1/4@2 1/2 lower and is due 15@16 1/2 higher based on the action of the Chicago market.

The corn crop is officially estimated at 292,000,000 bushels, against 308,000,000 bushels last year. Indicating there will be very little for exportation.

Kansas City wheat stocks are around 200,000 bushels, the largest on record.

September graduation was on in September corn but after a break to 100 1/2, it started upward on the basis of new home buying and short covering and rallied to 105, with the finish about the top. Deficit delivery was easier on reports of scattered rains in the Dakotas. Minnesota was up 2 1/2, and on the forecast for showed 115. The market was firm, and the underventure was 105 1/2.

The latter was sold with September purchases.

KENEY STORY ACCUSES EIGHT

Four on Stand Charged
"Bribes" Paid

Official "Accounts" for $10,000 Missing

John E. Sweeney, former land agent of the Southern California Company now being sued for embezzlement of the funds of that company, went to the witness stand yesterday in Judge Yankwich's courtroom to accuse eight men of missing funds. Sweeney, from Los Angeles, will continue today, according to his attorney, John P. Goodwin, Los Angeles attorney. The two-story frame and stone house on the property that was formerly the home of J. F. Burkhardt of the Burkhardt Investment Company, and one of the old show places of Los Angeles, is being dismantled to make way for a business structure to be erected within the next year.

The only one of the four famous Los Angeles homes that stood on the corners of this important boulevard intersection that has withstood the invasion of business and prospective business is the Allan Hancock residence on the northeast corner. The William Bach home on the southeast corner gave away to a business building a few years ago and the William Lucy home on the southwest corner was removed in anticipation of the future business development in that area.

Grand Jury May Take Action Over Bribery Charges Made by Accused Embezzler

SWEENEY TELLS STORY ON STAND

Testimony Names Eight as Receiving Favors

Vigorous Denials Follow Prisoner's "Expose"

Accused Promises He Will Reveal More Today

and he would say "okay," Sweeney testified. "I drew a check from the company, obtained the cash and put it in plain white envelopes and met Mr. Carroll, Mr. Whitehead or Mr. Wheeler and made payments to them in that way."

"On several occasions I had Mr. Blackburn, my assistant, make the payments."

"Carroll would tell me just about how much it would take to put a deal through and I'd take it up with Mr. Macbeth and he would get the approval and we would get the money." Most of the meetings took place in the Alexandria Hotel."

At one point in his testimony Judge Yankwich inquired:

"Did you ever put anything through the Council without paying somebody something?"

"Even fail to get anything through?" Ryan inquired.

"No," Sweeney said.

WANTED IT RUSHED
There was in Sweeney's testimony an incident of the Midway Gas Company, an affiliated organization, which desired a city franchise to lay a pipe line through San Fernando Valley. Sweeney said that he went to go through the regular routine would consume about three months and that he was sent to him what he could do about getting preliminary work so work could be started at once.

"I took it up with Carroll and Whitehead at lunch in the Alexandria," Sweeney testified, "and he told me it could be done right away. I told him we had to put this through in that way money would have to be paid. I don't know that there was a definite amount named. I said that I was not sure that the company would wish to spend any money to get that through."

I went back to the office and took the matter up with Mr. Macbeth and he told me, 'Those grafters want money for everything, can't you get something for nothing?'

The result was, however, Sweeney said, that he paid $15,000 to the two. Carroll insisted on it, he said.

He explained that Whitehead was the legal adviser to the Council and was with it in action. He explained that Carroll apart from being ministerial, "was the best lobbying man in the City Hall."

"He always looked after the stuff I wanted," Sweeney said of Carroll. "He would see the Councilmen. I had very little contact with them. He arranged presentation of all matters to the Council and he arranged it would put over to an opposition time."

"What do you mean by an opportune time?" Ryan asked.

Sweeney said, for instance, if some Councilmen were going to object to a proposal, Carroll would arrange to get him out of the Council chamber at the right time.

"He kept the Bolsheviks out, did he?" the judge inquired.

"Yes," replied Sweeney.

Sweeney related an incident with Councilman Moore, he said, had to object to erection of a gas holder at Western and Slauson avenues in 1926 because some of Moore's constituents objected. Moore told him, Sweeney said, that he really wanted for it but that he would have to object to "see my face."

"I explained it to Carroll," Sweeney said, "and he said, 'we'll fix that.'"

MARKED "ABSENT"

When the project's turn for presentation came up, Sweeney testified, Moore was in the chamber and Carroll, who had been absent a couple of times and finally Moore received a telephone call, was excused and Carroll put the matter up. It was passed and Moore was marked absent.

"How much did Carroll and Whitehead get for that?" inquired Ryan, referring to the beginning of the deal which Sweeney had testified the two had assisted and to its close where this latter assistance is asserted to have been given.

"I can't say but I think it was $15,000 or $20,000," Sweeney testified. When the matter was in committee, Councilmen Shaw, Allen and Zahn denied protest against it, according to testimony.

The last deal, he said, Sweeney testified, had to do with a vacation of a part of Naomi street in favor of a project in which the company and Santa Fe Railroad Company were interested. Carroll and Whitehead got $5000 apiece, the witness said.

"At that time," said Sweeney, "Carroll said he needed the money because he was investing in Bank of Italy stock."

STILL PENDING

"They haven't done anything yet but they promised to see the thing through," Sweeney replied. "That was pending at the time I was arrested."

There was an East Tenth street vacation deal in favor of the company, Sweeney said, on which "there was $25,000." Carroll got $15,000, Whitehead $5000 and Councilman Wheeler $5000, according to the defendant.

The matter of an East Eleventh street vacation came up through which the company would gain the property vacated by the city, Sweeney said, and so "I went up with Carroll at lunch in the Alexandria and we fixed the price at $25,000." The price was approved by Mr. Macbeth and the money was paid and we got the property."

"What did the city get?" Judge Yankwich inquired.

"None," Sweeney replied. He added that the city did get some $35 for engineering fees and that "a part of this was refunded."

Another deal, the first new gas tank at Slauson and Western, "cost $15,000 or $20,000," Sweeney testified.

Sweeney said the Council, with out his knowledge, had passed an ordinance which provided that no but master plumbers could make gas connections, and that he wished to get public utilities exempted from the ordinance. He worked to this end, he said, with Otto Twitchell, who, he said, was director for the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation. He said Whitehead and Carroll agreed to fix it up for the plaintiff.

AGREE ON PRICE

"The price agreed on with Carroll and Whitehead was $20,000," he said.

"Did you pay it?" asked Ryan.

"Yes," replied Sweeney, "and an amended ordinance was put through."

"We introduced that amendment," Judge Yankwich asked.

"I don't know," the witness replied. "Whitehead and Carroll arranged that. They arranged it through some Councilman."

Sweeney said the exhibits should show a check for Munste, secretary of the Board of Building and Safety.

"He put things through there," Sweeney said, "he was acted on more through Whitehead than me."

Sweeney said he spent about $500 for three cases of Scotch and a bottle of wine at the council chamber during his three term in office, dating from July, 1917, to July, 1923.

"I knew the defendant as the representative of the Southern California Gas Company," he said. "He appeared at Council meetings with matters to be taken up by the Council for that company but as to my solicitation in any way by word or action, or that he represented me in making any offer or arrangement to influence my vote in any of the legislation pending, it is simply a vile fabrication of the first water."

Today's Bible Text

Every wise woman buildeth her house; but the foolish plucketh it down with her hands: Prov. xiv:1.

DANGER SIGNALS

An astronomer says that the temperature on Mars is getting hotter instead of cooler. We hope Mars doesn't get hot enough to boil over.

THE TRAINING CAMP

Now they are saying that Heeneey lost because he trained on beer while Tunney stuck to malted milk. This is mentioned as another reason why the Volstead act should be more vigorously enforced. We must keep our warriors away from the foam that clouds the noodle.

KING DETHRONED

The government crop report indicated a possible slump of nearly a million bales in the year's yield of cotton and naturally there was a sharp upward trend in prices for future delivery. They used to talk about King Cotton, but nowadays mention is only in connection with the jack.

WHAT NEXT?

Now they offer to pull down the old City Hall and pay the municipality $2000 a month rent for the lot as a motor park. This in the heart of Broadway! Some of the old-time politicians would groan at the thought that the halls they once so proudly stepped should be dismantled to make loafing space for a flock of wheezy Fords.

A NEW POSTOFFICE

It must be admitted that the new City Hall and the Hall of Justice make their near neighbor, the Federal Building, look rather old-fashioned and inadequate. This must have occurred to the government officials inspecting Federal buildings in Southern California. Los Angeles certainly deserves a post-office more in keeping with the dignity of its municipal structures.

MANY FACES

Senator Smoot says that the Democrats are inconsistent in their declarations on the tariff. Of course they are. Nor is that the only inconsistency. But it does seem funny to find the Bourbons supporting a protective tariff after years of devotion to the theory of free trade or a purely revenue program. This year the Democrats are ready to cheer for anything or anybody that shows a vote. They are not only inconsistent, but proud of it.

THE WOMAN OF IT

A few years back when a woman went riding her hat had to be held in place with two or three hatpins—each a foot long, and both arms were needed in addition to this anchorage. Nowadays a lady puts on her lid with a short horn and takes it off with a corkscrew. The only wind that could dispossess her of it would be one of those whirling things that look like a spinwheel. A man may lose his beaver when the zephyrs play, but a woman never.

THE TOBACCO INDUSTRY

According to the investigations of scientists the smoking habit was indulged in China nearly 3000 years ago and may also have been practiced in Babylon before that time. But they didn't use tobacco. They smoked the leaves of various aromatic plants. The opinion of the investigators is that the American Indians were the pioneers in the incineration of real tobacco. The redskins certainly started something. The incense of the weed girdles the earth.

THE MEAT BILL

Twenty years ago the annual per capita consumption of meat in this country was 160 pounds. This year it is 142 pounds, but the bill is twice as heavy as two decades ago. Then they were giving liver away. Now the butcher consults the commercial reports before he will sell you any. Strange to say in this country there is a greater annual consumption of pork than of beef, by weight. Possibly this is in response to the great American cry for ham and eggs. In England it is different. But taking the country over the tendency of the time is toward a heavier meat ration and a slight lessening of the green goods demand. As vegetarians we are not making as distinct progress as we thought we were.

THE PRESIDENT ON PEACE
To the isolationists, the anti-leaguers, the bitter-enders and the rest of those who object to the United States taking, even in the interests of peace, the part in world affairs to which its power, prestige and international standing obliges it and who, therefore, oppose the Kellogg Peace Pact, the exposition of that plan given by President Coolidge in his speech on Wednesday came as a powerful rebuke.

The President's declaration that if the multilateral antistar treaty had been in effect in 1914, the World War almost certainly would have been prevented, coupled with his explanation that the treaty in no way impairs either the right or the obligation of the United States or any other country to take proper steps for national defense, make a powerful argument for ratification of the treaty and furnish a complete answer to the assertions of those who are out to tamper with the pact.

There can be, as the President said, no truthful assertion that we have no interest in what other nations do or that other nations are not affected by what we do.

"This agreement," he declared, "represents a revolutionary policy among nations. It holds a greater hope for peaceful relations than was ever before given the world. If those who are involved in it, having started it, will finish it, its provisions will prove one of the greatest blessings ever bestowed on humanity."

The attacks on the Kellogg treaties are based for the most part on allegations that they are a "back door" to the League of Nations, a new device for entangling the United States in undesirable foreign alliances and a commitment on the part of this country to fight other people's battles for them.

How far these charges are from the fact was strikingly shown in a recent article in The Times by Eugene Young in which this expert on international affairs shows that the Kellogg pact has, in effect, all the advantages of the League of Nations with none of its drawbacks.

Mr. Young's analysis shows that under the Coolidge-Kellogg plan, the United States can by no possibility be drawn unwillingly into war by obligations to any other nation, but will be able to exercise a usually decisive veto against the making of war by any other nation.

There were interpretations of the League of Nations covenant under which, it seemed, the United States, if a member of the League, might in certain cases be forced against its will to take up arms. While these interpretations were felt by friends of the League, to be wrong and based on misconception, they aroused sufficient doubt in the mind of the public to cause the United States to stand aloof.

The Coolidge-Kellogg plan cannot be interpreted in this manner and is not subject to this same criticism that was made against the League covenant. There is no assembly or council in which the United States might be outvoted, no provision for definite action to be taken against supposed offender, nothing even remotely resembling an alliance for aggression, and no "super-government."

But the pact does give the United States the right to inquire, if it chooses, into any situation which might bring about a war, without being accused of meddling, and to throw a powerful influence into the scale on behalf of peace and amicable settlement of any dispute that may arise.

To have such a right is valuable to the United States, for the interests of the people of this nation are now so varied and extensive that there can be no war anywhere which does not concern us. The other signatories of the treaty not only bind themselves not to war upon us, but also bind themselves to us not to make war upon each other. Since the same advantages are gained by each signatory nation, the arrangement is advantageous to each and has no drawbacks for any.

Each nation retains the utmost freedom of action except in one respect; it surrenders no privilege but the one of waging war; and that is a privilege which the United States at least has no desire to make use of.

The pact is the negative of the "balance of power" plan, which was set up largely by England for her own self-protection against an overwhelming combination being formed adverse to her. This scheme led to war after war, and finally to the greatest struggle of all, that of 1914-1918. Efforts to restore the "balance of power" during the past ten years have been largely ineffective, and there seems reason to believe that with the adoption of the Coolidge-Kellogg plan the "balance of power" idea will sink gradually out of sight, never to be resurrected.

The multilateral antistar treaty does more, it is apparent, than merely express a "plous wish."

It does not supplant the League of Nations, which still will remain an effective agency within its sphere, and will retain its usefulness for moderating and perhaps settling the age-old quarrels of Europe. So far as the League's efforts are in the direction of peace, it will supplement and aid them; should some unforeseen combination lead the League in the direction of war, however, the treaty will interpose a powerful barrier.

OHIO IS DRY

The overwhelming dry sentiment of the State of Ohio is shown conclusively by the result of Tuesday's primary, and the apparent victory, by a very narrow margin, of a wet Democrat in one of the Senatorial contests merely emphasized the result. There is no comfort for Smith in the Ohio figures. Even if he was given all the wet Republican votes in the State and was able to hold all the Democrats, without regard to wetness or dryness, he would be short of obtaining the State's electoral votes, the figures make plain.

Between 9 and 11 o'clock in the morning riding along a stretch of about sixty miles, fifteen Washington, fifty-five Oregon and ninety-nine California number plates were listed. There were also three each from Ohio and Alberta, Can.; two each from Iowa, New York, Arizona and British Columbia. Nebraska, Colorado, Texas, Montana and Minnesota furnished one each.

Almost twice as many California as Oregon cars were found on the Pacific Highway in the heart of the Oregon country. A California trait stands out in bold relief. We are in a constant

LEE SIDE O' LA
BY Lee Shippey

IN MOST States "step-ins" means but one thing. In Southern California it often has a quite different meaning. In all our beach and resort towns there are step-in houses and apartments—places one may step right into for a week, a week-end or a day, just as one would into a hotel room, and find everything at hand for housekeeping. We know one Los Angeles angler who drives to a certain beach town every Saturday night and rings the doorbell of a bungalow-court owner.

"Which cottage may we have this time?" he asks.

"No, 4," replies the landlord. "You'll find bait and a tide table in the kitchen, the fishing tackle on the rear porch and a bottle of home-made grapejuice in the garage. The radio's connected, and if there's anything else you want just holler."

We don't know of any other State which offers such wide variety of accommodations for tourists and transients to choose from, from auto camps up.

The Same Motions

A Pasadena father of four says his "teeners" certainly are patriotic. They want to dash right off and practice tennis, with the Davis cup in mind, every time there are some chores to do around the house.

But he's bought each of 'em a fly swatter, and assures them they can develop wonderful speed and accuracy and tennis form by just using them at home.

A Nest We Keeps Not For

Funniest thing I saw on my vacation was an imposing undertaking establishment, on the way to Long Beach, with this inscription across its front: "El Nido Entre Nueces." I wonder if the building once was a residence in a grove of walnut trees, and perhaps some realtors translated the inscription as Latin for "Heaven is my home." But it's Spanish for "Nest Among the Nuts." —W. E. McGlashan.

Indestructible Buttons

I never saw a button To mark my time zone, And thought thoughts and cuttin' Just won't leave me alone. I wish I had, on both my shirts, A dozen, more or less, For even my dear laundry might Gross careful then, I guess. —TENNYSON MABIE.

I carried the State in 1920 by nearly 400,000 and Coolidge in 1924 by a slightly larger margin. In only two elections since 1880, those of 1912 and 1916, has Ohio's electoral vote gone for the Democratic candidate. A turn to Smith of 90,000 Republican votes, assuming that such a thing was possible, would not affect the result in 1928.

VESTLESS ROYALTY
At an exhibition of antiques in London recently the Prince of Wales appeared without a vest. Whether or not he left his waistcoat as one of the antiques exhibits the cable did not state. But the event was considered first-page news by many American journals, and the Boston Transcript, braving all references to the silly season, made a leading editorial of it.

In London the vestless Prince was talked about. Pictures of him sans waistcoat were printed in the newspapers, along with interviews with leading tailors. The interviews were conservative. The tailors made no criticism of Wales's amazing innovation, but expressed the opinion that the idea will not be taken up to any great extent in England. One West End sartorial pundit said that the American example of going without a waistcoat in summer might be followed by some Londoners, but that the London summer was shorter, and the weather could not be depended upon to cause the fashion to become a permanent one.

Everybody is on the move. Possibly this is the reason why the moving picture finds its perfect habitat in Hollywood.

Our business is on wheels and even the homes have ball bearings. Folks do not stay in one place long enough to take root. Nobody becomes attached to a spot. Consequently there is little reverence for any place. No spot in hollowed ground. We do not sit still long enough for the coffee grounds to settle.

We Hope So
Los Angeles public improvements totaled $27,537,920 during the last fiscal year. Then we must have got fully $20,000,000 worth.—Tex Speyer.

Book Notes

LAWYER: This raw food fad is going a bit too strong. It's affecting food for thought now. Half the novels one picks up are full of raw material—Constance Reid.

Yeah. But a lot of those writers are cooking their own goose. And some progress has been made. We're at least getting away from the Percy Marks and Scott Fitzgerald rah-rah material.

We Hope None Were Mangled

From a Los Angeles newspaper: "As each group formed, they were taken through each department (of a new laundry), beginning with the unwrapping of the soiled articles of clothing, and on through until they were thoroughly laundered and wrapped into bundles ready for delivery."

Why, Indeed?

Leeaside: Motion-picture magnates are popular targets, and lots of people who don't know anything about them are fond of speaking of them as far more ignorant than stage producers. Well, we were talking of the late Holbrook Blinn the other day, and it was recalled that he was Napoleon in the Augustin Daily production of "The Duchess of Dantzig." When John Shubert saw the play he inquired: "Why did Daly give the important role of Napoleon to such a little man as Blinn?" —Phil Hunt.

How to Read the Paper

"Never read the papers," said a lady who is a widow. "There's nothing there but scandal stuff, so far as I can see. Which goes to show that what we seek we nearly always find. It all depends, it seems to me, on what is in your mind."

For if she really thinks that crime and sin are all they print, She'd better wash her eyes and brain, and take another squirt. Good papers feel readers have a goodly share of brains, and that they'll surely benefit if they will take the pains. To look for something useful, or for something they enjoy: As they can find good reading there, for woman, man or boy. —CARROLL VAN COURT.

state of motion. Possibly this accounts for the success of the Golden State in the first place. Almost anything is possible. The present is a matrix and we are being poured and molded. We move up and down; we move out and we move in. We go ten miles for a better climate. Detecting climate is our chief endeavor. If property is not bought and sold, it is traded. Some from the South go North and others come down to preserve the balance and keep the Commonwealth from tipping up.

Everybody is on the move. Possibly this is the reason why the moving picture finds its perfect habitat in Hollywood.

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH

By James J. Montague
TO no one I yield in admiring A man in the worthy pride Who is earnest and kind, untiring In his chosen profession or trade. Though labor to me is distressful, Except in exceptional cases No people are very successful Save alone by the sweat of their faces.

But after a man has created Two millions of automobiles, One would think that he ought to be satisfied.

With motors and tonneaus and wheels, That all struggling humanity scorning Would rest for a space, at his door, And not set to work the next morning To build three or four million more.

Already these beautified flivvers, Each built in five minutes, complete, Are pouring in regular rivers Along every highway and street. And their builder, whose years of exertion You would fancy, are over and done, Has recently made the assertion That his labors are only begun.

Mr. Ford has my deep veneration. For he is worthy of undying fame.

With the vehicles bearing his name. But his work has become an addiction. And though highly applauded his grit I cannot repress the conviction That the man ought to know when to quit.

Question: How much fan mail is received at Hollywood?

T. S. F.

Answer: It is estimated that 400,000 fan letters pass through the Los Angeles postoffice monthly.

Q.: Do the stars emit much light?

E. N.

A.: The total of starlight is a very small amount. Up to the twentieth magnitude the total light emitted is equivalent to 687 first-magnitude stars, equal to about the hundredth part of full moonlight.

Mother of Two Sets World Endurance Swimming Record

SHE TEACHES FISHES TO SWIM

The photographs show Mrs. Lee Fourrier of Colton, who yesterday completed 56 hours and 56 minutes of continuous swimming in the Colton tank, breaking the established world record for marathons. The former mark was held by Mrs. Huddleston of Illinois. In the upper picture, Mrs. Fourrier and her trainer are having a bite of lunch together. She drank coffee and ate sugar while swimming over a period of more than two days and two nights. The Colton woman is the mother of two children and is 36 years of age. She finished on her feet, but collapsed and was unconscious later.

COLTON WOMAN IN GREAT FEAT

Paddles Continuously for 56 Hours, 56 Minutes

Finishes Standing Up But Collapses Later

Thousands Watch Matron Crack Record

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 16. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Lee Fourrier who couldn't swim a stroke three years ago crawled out of the Colton unplanned at 2:36 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the world's champion marathon swimmer.

Mrs. Fourrier, 36 years of age, had entered the plunge at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning. She swam continuously for fifty-six hours and thirty seconds and set the mark held by Myrtle
Huddleston two months ago by two hours and fifty-six minutes.

OKAY AT FINISH

Mrs. Fourrier finished as she said she would—on her feet. She swam to the shallow water and slowly walked up the steps out of the plunge, smiling at her mother who had been on the bank virtually all of the time. Mrs. Fourrier was in the water when her trainer wrapped her in a blanket. Mrs. Fourrier rapidly collapsed, she was quickly rushed to her home in an ambulance and within an hour was unconscious from sheer exhaustion. A physician stated that her condition was not serious.

Thousands of persons saw
Mrs. Fourrier cleave the water during the three days of the contest. More than 12,000 spectators visited the plunge and at noon today when she passed Mrs. Huddleston's mark husky cheers arose. Myrtle, however, did not collapse until after the race.

PETE SARMIENTO RETURNING; HOPE TO REBUILD FORTUNE

HONOLULU, Aug. 16. (P)—Pete Sarmiento, Filipino featherweight pugilist, who is said to have squandered a fortune amassed in boxing in the United States, passed through Honolulu today in the steamer of the steamship President Lincoln.

Sarmiento who had been in the Philippines several months, was on his way from Manila to San Francisco in the hope of building another fortune, although no fight had been arranged for him. The little Filipino expressed the opinion that he could win back some of his former high reputation as a boxer.

Sarmiento explained that he had left his wife and baby in the Philippines because of lack of funds to bring them with him.

GLEDHILL WINS MATCH IN NATIONAL JUNIOR TOURNEY

CULVER (Ind.) Aug. 16.—Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, Pacific Coast junior singles champion, earned his way today to semifinals of the national junior championships at Culver Military Academy by defeating Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, southern doubles champion, 6-2, 6-3.

Playing in the doubles, Gledhill and Edward Vines of Santa Barbara defeated David Jones and Ed Mendell of New York, 6-4, 6-4. Vines was eliminated from the singles this morning by W. Barry Wood, the Massachusetts junior titleholder. Wood has lost only six games in five rounds of play.

Henry Plymire of Palo Alto won his first battle from John Coughlin of San Francisco, in the quarter-finals, 3-6, 6-3, 6-6. Every point was vigorously contested and at the conclusion of the round Coughlin was so completely exhausted that he was sent to the academic hospital for rest. His match in the doubles is being postponed until tomorrow.

ACTRESS IN AUTO CRASH IMPROVED
Sally Eilers Badly Hurt When Car Collides With Heavy Truck
Sally Eilers, 1928 Wampas Baby Star, who was painfully bruised in a collision between her automobile and a truck early yesterday morning, was reported to be slightly improved at her home at 608 North Manhattan Place late yesterday.
Clarence Winchester of Burbank, driver of the truck, is in a general condition at the General Hospital, it is reported. He suffered a fracture of the right shoulder and possible internal injuries, according to Hollywood police.
The crash occurred at Plymouth Boulevard and Melrose avenue shortly after 6 a.m. Eilers was driving to work in her automobile alone, it is stated. Miss Eilers' car, according to police, struck the heavy truck as it was crossing the intersection. Miss Eilers was thrown heavily against the steering wheel and a short time later got out of the auto, unconscious. Winchester, it is reported, was crushed against the steering wheel of the truck.
Miss Eilers and Winchester were taken first to the emergency hospital of Dr. Harold J. Harris. Later the cinema star was sent to her home and Winchester transferred to the General Hospital.
Author Tells of Spanish Aims in Exposition
To win back the waning love of the Spanish-speaking peoples of South America and to cement the friendship between Spain and the United States are the chief objects of the Seville and Barcelona Exposition to be given next year, according to Prof. Pijoan, author and art critic, who addressed the University Club yesterday.
The western world has heard too much of the worst and not enough of the best of Spain, whose manifestation of good will toward all nations is not questioned today by students of world affairs.
Prof. Pijoan, "As an evidence of this spirit of internationalism, Spain decided ten years ago to put on an exhibition that would be of interest to all nations and already more than $8,000,000 has been spent in preparation for the great fair."
Demonstrating the interest which South America is showing in regard to the exposition, Prof. Pijoan said that 30,000 citizens of Buenos Aires already have booked passage to Spain. He also invited the people of the United States to visit the exposition.
Prof. Pijoan, author of "Outline History of Art," and now who is teaching at Pomona College, has been chosen as one of the official representatives of the Spanish government in behalf of the Seville and Barcelona Exposition. He will leave Los Angeles for his native country in October.
Inquiry to be Made in Death of Studio Man
Whether the death of Arthur F. Buss, electrical engineer, was due to poison or natural causes probably will be determined today by County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner, following a medical analysis of the stomach contents which was begun yesterday.
Buss, who was attached to the Vitaphone department of Warner Brothers' studio, died last Tuesday night at the California Lutheran Hospital under circumstances which, according to detectives, warrant a thorough investigation. Indications of bichloride poisoning are reported to have been discovered and an inquiry was asked of the Coroner by Police Captain Stoll of Wilshire division.
Detectives who have investigated say that Buss had several prescriptions filled at a pharmacy in the Wilshire district and it is hinted that the poison may have been the result of a prescription clerk's error.
Buss lived at 1531 South Spaulding avenue.
DELEGATES NAMED TO POLICE CONVENTION
Police Captain Cross, Police Sergeant Bixby and Police Commissioner Thorpe are to represent Los Angeles at the convention of International Association of Identification to be held at Denver, Colo., September 12 to 15.

STREET CHANGE HEARING UP

The City Council will this morning consider the proposed change of name of Sunset Boulevard to the name Hollywood Boulevard, from the Plaza to Hillhurst avenue, which is now the eastern terminus of Hollywood Boulevard.

A 70 per cent property petition of property owners between Hill-hurst and the Plaza asked for the change of name. The Northwest Chamber of Commerce endorsed the request. Opposition has developed from many property owners on the present Hollywood Boulevard. The Council's City Planning Committee will recommend that the members of the change obtain additional signatures to their petition.

transit, international signal strength scale, and so forth.

In the past most of the "ham" operators have been thoroughly conversant with this phase of radio activity, but it has not been a part of the regular curriculum.

Another projected change will be the fact that before long the stations will have to give their power in meter-amperes instead of the watt as a unit of electric power.

Technically speaking, meter-amperes is the product of the antenna current in amperes at the point of emission multiplied by the effective height in meters for any radio station. Briefly, it constitutes a factor for indicating the radiating strength of broadcast transmitting outfit.

The Department of Commerce test car, now used jointly by both the Bureau, during its supervisional inspection tour of Southern California, made a series of field-strength tests with the thought in mind of the changes in stating the power of broadcast stations.

While the new designations will have little to do with the average fan, who is interested solely in reception conditions, there will apparently be considerable interest on the part of those technically minded.

It is said that the meter-amperes method of designation will more truly reflect the actual station strength.

For instance, when KPPK was at Big Bear, despite its 500-watt power, the station had difficulty in carrying its programs to the Los Angeles area because of various atmospheric conditions. The meter-amperes method would have been a fairer criterion.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

A novel birthday party, which included a puppet show, was enjoyed on Tuesday afternoon by twenty or more of Del Monte's very young guests, in celebration of the tenth birthday of Zola Halliburton, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Halliburton, had just returned to Los Angeles after a month's vacation. Games and refreshments served in a grove of live oaks in the grounds were followed by an amateur puppet show in the children's large play hall in the hotel, created and presented by Zola Halliburton, a 3-year-old Miss Whisenant, daughter of Mrs. Celestine Whisenant of San Antonio. The show proved so delightful to the youngsters and their parents it is to be repeated in the hotel's auditorium. A small cake, a surprise cake and interesting favors was then enjoyed in the Brownies' Tree Top. Among those present were Patricia and Richard Mack, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mack; Billy Murphy of Pasadena, son-in-law of Mrs. Ann Patti Murphy; Peter and Rose Haas of Menlo Park; Charlotte Stickney, Mary Jane Gilkey of Chicago, Gilbert Denman, Lucy Roe and Margaret Whisenant of San Antonio and Zola and Vida Halliburton of Los Angeles.

Another interesting social affair enjoyed by the very young set was the beach party and buffet luncheon given by Louis and Francis Conlan, sons of Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Conlan of San Francisco, who are summering here. They were home at Pebble Beach to twenty or more of their young friends of that fashionable colony. Swimming in the heated pool at Stillwater Cove and games on the sandy beach were followed by a luncheon in the attire of a circus. Guests present were Patricia Monteskie, Jeanne Monteagle, Barbara Tobin, Mary Hayne, Virginia Law, Alice McAndrew, Christine Henry, Eleanor Hornby, Jane Maguire, Anna Miller, Callie Moore, Charles Tobin, Hartford Law, Ward Law, Paul Clark, Harrison Holt, Guernsey Holt, Raymond Hornby, David Hornby, Samuel Hopkins Jr., George Riley, and Ralph Riley.

The marriage of Miss Mildred Tobin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Tobin of Main street, and Harold P. Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Riley, Minneapolis, Minn., was solemnized Saturday at his home, with Rev. Father Gross officiating.

The charming young bride wore a gown of pink taffeta fashioned in bouffant mode with silver net and lace decorations on the skirt, a picture hat of orchid and pink satin ribbon and her arm bouquet was of pink roses and orchid sweet peas.

Mrs. Milford Bailey, matron of honor, was gowned in black and cream taffeta with accessories in peach color and carried tea roses and pink delphiniums.

A reception and wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony.

The bride, who was formerly secretary to the City Manager of Alameda, was well known in this vicinity and has a large circle of friends. Mr. Riley is a member of the State Realty Commission. Upon their return from a honeymoon trip in Northern California, Mr. and Mrs. Riley will make their home in Los Angeles.

Home Again

Mrs. Ernest E. Noon, Hollywood matron, and daughter, Betty, 9 years of age, yesterday returned from a delightful mountain visit at Forest Home where they were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Roland of Santa Ana, at their Forest Home Lodge.

After a few days at their Hollywood home in North Vista Drive, Mrs. Noon will leave for a brief sojourn at Catalina Island, after which she and daughter Betty will return to the Noon beach house at Hermosa for the remainder of the summer, where they will be joined each week-end by Mr. Noon.

BEEF AND POTATO ROLL
One pound of beef, (cooked) two cups of chopped cold boiled potatoes, a seasoning of salt and pepper, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, two chopped pimientos, one egg.

Remove from the beef all surplus fat and skin and put through the meat chopper twice, add to it the seasonings, chopped potatoes, and the egg, unbeaten, mix thoroughly; form into a roll, place in a casserole dish, add half a cupful of stock and a quarter cupful of butter, cover and bake for half an hour, basting once or twice. Make a brown sauce and pour over and serve from the dish.

SCALLOPED PEACHES
Four cupfuls of ripe peaches, one-fourth of a cupful of butter, and six soda crackers, butter a baking dish, and cover the bottom with a layer of sliced peaches, sprinkle with sugar, and a little cinnamon, sprinkle with bits of crackers, dot with butter, and repeat this process until the entire amount is used, scatter the top with a cupful of sugar and half a cupful of water and pour over the peaches. Place in a moderate oven and bake for forty-five minutes.

TONGUE AND BLACKBERRY SAUCE
One fresh beef tongue, juice of one lemon, one-half cupful of black jelly, one-half cupful of raspberry jelly.

Wash the tongue, place in a saucepan, cover with boiling water, and add to it one tablespoonful of mixed pickle spices, two bay leaves, a few celery leaves, and one sliced onion.

Allow to cool until tender, then slice in cold water and remove the skin, trim off the root end and stick the meat solid with cloves.

Place in a buttered baking pan, dust with salt, pour the jelly over the meat, which has been beaten soft, add the raisins, which have been soaked in hot water, add the lemon juice and bake until tender in one cupful of water, add the lemon juice and bake for twenty minutes, serve either hot or cold.

FRIED OKRA
Wash the okra, cut off the tips, stem end and slice lengthwise.

Soak the okra in a bowl of water, then dilute with a tablespoonful of water and then in cornmeal well seasoned with pepper and salt. Fry in deep hot fat, drain and serve.

FUNMAKER TAKES BRIDE ON WAY EAST

Alfred E. Christie and Beauty from Comedy Lot Go to Altar at Yuma

When the Christie brothers decided temporarily to close down their comedy film plant in Hollywood, Alfred E. Christie seized his opportunity to combine a honeymoon with a business trip to New York. He did it by marrying one of his screen beauties, Shirley Collins, whose real name was Shirley Crum. The couple were married at Yuma, Ariz., on Wednesday.

Details of the surprise wedding were not learned, however, until yesterday. In obtaining a license Christie gave his age as 42 years, and Miss Collins as 22. The marriage, friends said, is the result of a romance of approximately eighteen months that began when Shirley Collins, then her career on the Christie lot, was engaged to a man.

Both the surprise wedding and the marriage were not learned, however, until yesterday. In obtaining a license Christie gave his age as 42 years, and Miss Collins as 22. The marriage, friends said, is the result of a romance of approximately eighteen months that began when Shirley Collins, then her career on the Christie lot, was engaged to a man.

The Christies are pioneers in the film industry.

tendances at the convention are F. D. Hough, vice-president of the association; Arthur Samisch, San Francisco, secretary; Buck Travis, president of the Pioneer Lines, and O. R. Pule of Los Angeles, president of the Motor Transport Lines and father of the motorbus system of travel.

A banquet was held at 7 p.m. at the Brooks Hotel, with representatives of various oil, tire and automotive-accessory companies as special guests.

Death Penalty Will be Asked for Shooting

Charged with murder in connection with the shooting of his father-in-law, Harmon Temple of Signal Hill went on trial yesterday before Judge Bowron in Superior Court.

Temple is asserted to have killed G. W. Priest with a shotgun during a family quarrel. According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clarke, the prosecution will ask capital punishment for Temple.

Work of selecting a jury will be resumed this morning. Temple is being defended by Attorney Edgar Hervey.

SUBTITLES ASSIGNED
Bebe Daniels's latest starring production, "Take Me Home," a musical interest character comedy directed by Marshall Neilan, will come to the world's screens with Herman Mankiewicz's subtitles. That is assured with the announcement from the Paramount studios in Hollywood to the effect that the author of the title for "Magnificent Flirt," "The Drag Net," and "Something Always Happens" has been assigned the new Daniels vehicle.

Find from the original screen each day a new scene with a new story.
